Jim Perry is a member of the District of Columbia Bar and holds a JD degree in law and a BsCE in civil engineering and works from Paris as an arbitrator and dispute board member specialising in the construction industry. In 2003 Jim opened PS Consulting, a founding member of the Global Construction and Infrastructure Legal Alliance (Gcila). Jim has served on numerous dispute boards and Arbitration Tribunals in Central Europe, Central Asia and Latin America, Africa, SE Asia and the Middle East and is on the FIDIC President's list and the Syntec-Ingénierie list of adjudicators (France). Jim has also been appointed as delay and/or quantum expert witness and co-counsel for technical and damages matters on many construction arbitrations and dispute boards involving roads and bridges, power, oil and gas, rail, buildings and marine infrastructure projects in the Middle East, Europe, Africa, Asia and Australasia. Jim also provides contract administration oversight on urban renewal projects in Latin America, and industrial, hotel and leisure development projects in France. Before founding PS Consulting Jim worked as General Manager of EuroDisneyland Imagineering and held director positions with Employers and Contractor organisations with responsibility for contracting, and dispute resolution on projects including Euro Disney, the Petronas Towers in Kuala Lumpur and major PFI projects in the UK and Central Europe. PS Consulting also provides several accredited training modules worldwide on FIDIC contracts. Jim is a Past President of Region 2 of the Dispute Resolution Board Foundation (DRBF).
